ATOMIC EXPLOSION SET OFF BY FRANCE

Nuclear Blast Triggered Deep In Sahara Desert

Device Equal In Power to First U.S. Atomic Bombs

PARIS (AP)—France exploded a plutonium bomb deep in the Sahara Desert today and became the world's fourth atomic power. President Charles de Gaulle announced France's first nuclear blast in a communique issued by the Defense Ministry. It declared France is now in a better position to negotiate with the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union toward nuclear disarmament.

The terse communique said an "atomic device" went off successfully from a tower at Point Zero at Tanzeur, deep in the desert near Reggane at 6 a.m.—1 a.m. EST.

Not Bound By Agreement

The explosion came after more than a year in which no atomic blasts had been announced by the other powers pending negotiations on a test ban. France had made plain, however, she did not feel bound by this "gentlemen's agreement" to ban tests.

Three hours after the bomb exploded the Defense Ministry said that there was no radioactive fallout in inhabited region of the Sahara area.

News of the blast was flashed from the test site 1,500 miles south of Oran to De Gaulle in Paris.

The announcement said the power of the bomb was what had been expected. It was understood to be equal to about 20,000 tons of TNT—the strength of the first American A-bombs to hit Hiroshima and Nagasaki at the end of World War II. The Sahara blast is expected to have the following effects on diplomatic and military fronts:

1. Strengthen De Gaulle's hand when he plays host to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev next month and during the French President's ensuing trips to London and Washington.

2. Mark a big step toward giving France atomic capability although she will not have an appreciable nuclear punch until 1963.

3. Boost the morale of French

Blast Creates Added French, U.S. Problems

WASHINGTON (AP)—France's opening bid for membership in the "nuclear club" of the great powers is likely to raise more problems than it solves in relations between Washington and Paris.

The explosion of a French atomic device early today in the Sahara had been anticipated by Allied officials for many months. The problems it seems certain to raise have been foreseen.

But it appears that President Charles de Gaulle's desire for U.S. assistance in making France an advanced nuclear power, with sophisticated weapons in its arsenal, will now be reinforced in French government and popular opinion.

The French are in position to argue that they must be considered in some degree at least as qualified as Britain to receive U.S. assistance in the nuclear field.

The difficulty in American acceptance of this point of view, however, lies not so much in the still limited nature of France's nuclear effort as in fears in official quarters here about France's political stability.

There is known to be deep unwillingness among congressional leaders to make any change in existing laws which heavily restrict the authority of President Eisenhower to transfer atomic know-how or component parts of atomic weapons to any country among the Allies other than Britain.

Yet it has long been thought in administration circles here that one of the deeply held hopes in Paris was that when the French finally succeeded in exploding a nuclear device the Washington attitude would change.

SIDETRACKED BY SNOW — This train of trucks is a portion of more than 75 truckers who were stalled Friday near Davenport, Iowa, on Highway 6 by a 12-inch snow that has paralyzed traffic the past few days. When restaurant workers were unable to reach the nearby truck port for work, some of the truckers pitched in and poured coffee, waited on tables and washed dishes. Because only 18 cots were available, most of the truckers were forced to sleep in their cabs.

Fire Marshal Probes Four Farm Blazes

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—The state fire marshal's office began an investigation today into four farm fires believed to have been set by an arsonist in southeastern Greene County and adjoining Clinton County.

Only three of the farm fires caused any major damage and these losses totaled about $28,000. Five suspects were picked up for questioning after the fires broke out early Saturday. None was held.

Three of the fires took place about three miles north of Port William, and one in Union Township of adjoining Clinton County.

Warns of Communist Successes

Hoover Cites Spread Of 'Karl Marx Virus'

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Herbert Hoover said today that Marxist ideology has infected "both the thinking of our people and the actions of our own government."

Communists are bent on destroying freedom, he said, "and they are succeeding right on our very doorstep."

The 85-year-old Hoover, in an address prepared for a luncheon meeting of United Presbyterian Men, a lay organization, said more Christian leaders need to recognize and resist "the spread of the Karl Marx virus."

"This infection creeps through our nation by deluded and misled men and by disguised organizations, fronts and cults," he said. "These agents of infection are like hermit crabs which crawl into such terms as 'liberal,' 'progressive,' 'public electric power,' 'managed economy,' 'the welfare state' and others."

He said the nation faces "six dangerous crises," including: international Communist imperialism, Marxist infection at home, inflation, faltering foreign trade,

Confident Living

By Dr. NORMAN VINCENT PEALE
Learn to Love and Learn to Live

I visited Oxford University on a recent trip and saw those famous lines written on a wall long ago by a student about one of his professors.

I do not love thee, Dr. Fell,
The reason why I cannot tell;
But this alone I know full well,
I do not love thee, Dr. Fell.

What could have been wrong with Dr. Fell that despite specific reason he was so disliked? It was probably just that he did not like the boy and the student reacted in exactly the same way. Everyone has in his personality a kind of receiving antenna which senses and picks up other's attitudes.

When I was in Jerusalem I visited a children's hospital run by a wonderful, eighty-year-old friend of mine, Mrs. Bertha Spafford Vester. Mrs. Vester has more energy than one half her age, and she has the most rippling laugh and sparkling eyes that have ever been seen. She is a very beloved person in the Holy City because she loves everyone, especially the poor, the sick and the helpless. Her baby hospital, which is helping greatly to alleviate the refugee problem, is so crowded that only the most seriously ill children can be accepted.

THE CHIEF, and indeed the only, physician in this hospital is Dr. Mahmoud Dajani. He is an extremely well trained man who, working under handicaps of minimum equipment, inadequate staff and little money, has operated on over nine hundred patients and lost only a very few.

Mrs. Vester and I were invited to accompany Dr. Dajani on his daily rounds. We saw children with bloated stomachs and undernourished arms and legs, like little spindles—and all sorts of diseases.

I saw the look on each child's face when Dr. Dajani came near. He did not need to study each chart. Why? Because he loved every child. And did they love him? He would ruffle up their hair, poke them in their stomachs, and

When We Talk About Freedom

It is curious, when you stop to think about it, that so many Americans seem to have clairvoyant knowledge of Russian economics, though their government must fall back on guesswork about Russian militarism.

These gimlet-eyed observers reel off yards of statistics about how Russia is outstripping the United States in rate of growth. They make it appear that Russia is doing thus and so with its national product, and that thus and so is far superior to what their own country is doing.

Even Walter Lippmann, the dependable pundit, wrote the other day that President Eisenhower sounded "like a tired old man who has lost touch with the spring of our national vitality" when he urged Americans to have greater faith in their system and to pay less attention to critics who make it appear the Soviet challenge is not being answered.

"The President's defeatism," said Lippmann, "has no objective justification. The virtues of our system of society are not inseparably tied up with the Revenue Act of 1954 or with a philosophy of government which, when the President explains it, regards the federal government as at best a necessary evil."

THIS IS STRONG criticism—so strong it makes mere casual critics wonder if Lippmann can be looking at the United States from the same standpoint as they take when they look at it.

They cannot quarrel with the proposition that the government of Russia spends proportionately more money than the government of the United States. They do not know if it does, but they wouldn't be surprised if it did, because it is a totalitarian regime in a socialized society. It does all the spending. It makes all the decisions that underlie spending. It also prepares all the statistics.

In the United States, statistics are a public commodity. The air is full of them. There are half a dozen corporations in this country that generate and distribute more statistics about themselves than the Russian state. The finances of General Motors and Ford are as complex as those of the Soviet Union.

In this country, millions of people look to private enterprise for the terms of their security, not to a socialized central government. If they do not actually regard the federal government as a "necessary evil," they do regard it with the skepticism that goes with the American heritage.

It appears to people like these who have learned to rely on themselves more than on the beneficence and wisdom of a faceless bureaucracy that alternately rules with a stick and a carrot that comparisons with socialized Russia are tricky.

IN RUSSIA, when the government has been measured with its own yardstick, that's all there is; there isn't any more. In the United States, when the government has been measured with everybody's yardsticks—and the U.S. yardsticks vary in length—that's only the beginning of the sum and substance of U.S. life.

When Americans speak of the strength of freedom, they are not talking about their government but about people wedded to the proposition that the way to deal with government is to keep it at arm's length.

If that is a weakness—if it means the jig is up because government in Russia is Big Brother, Big Sister and Big Everything—those poor deluded Founding Fathers, including George Washington, wasted 18 decades of American time which might have been spent specializing the republic.

Union Support Means Money

It comes as no surprise to leaders of the two great political parties that AFL-CIO support will be forthcoming for one of them after their nominating conventions next summer.

The Democratic party expects the support will be thrown its way. The Republican party is not without hope of attracting a fair share of the votes of AFL-CIO members, but it has no idle dreams of getting AFL-CIO support; i.e., money.

It has been demonstrated powerfully and frequently that no labor union can deliver votes for the political candidates favored by its leaders. The leaders have no more or less to say about the way their followers vote than any leaders have to say about the marks made on secret ballots by free citizens.

Granted that the tendency on unionists is to vote the way their leaders indicate they intend to vote, there is no such thing as a closely controlled "labor vote." In some situations, in some localities, it has been proved repeatedly that "labor voters" are entirely capable of pulling the rug from under their leadership by lining up in opposition to their recommendations.

But how Americans vote is not the question in this instance. It has been answered to the satisfaction of all concerned that people in the United States vote to suit themselves; that they cannot be herded to the polls.

The question is money, not votes. AFL-CIO support for the Democratic party in recent years has been an irreplaceable source of party funds. In one guise and another, labor union money has filled in for the income the party could not drum up with its own solicitations.

This has altered the nature of the two-party system. It has raised serious questions about laws regulating campaign expenditures. It has goaded the Republican party into adopting measures to offset this new source of personnel as well as cash.

The remarkable thing about it has been the singularly curious fact that more than 99 per cent of all labor union support has gone to Democratic candidates, though the members who put up the money are by no means 99 per cent in favor of the Democratic cause, or of the office-seekers who run under the Democratic banner.

Now We Have a Sample of UOO

That dark satellite — the so-far-unidentified orbital object — circling the earth — may prove to be the first of a series of space mysteries.

They will be the "abominable snowmen" of outer space, the Flying Dutchmen of the celestial seas, the ghosts of the navigation routes of interplanetary travel.

Whether this one finally is given a plausible explanation and catalogued is problematic. Eventually, there will be something in space that men cannot account for in their narrow limits of plausibility, other than to guess that it must have been put there by the arbitrary decision of someone's intellect.

Someone's intellect . . .

The intellect might not be of the earth, itself. If earthlings can put objects into orbit around the moon and sun and can predict with fair certainty that they will be circling other planets in so and so many years, whatever beings may exist elsewhere in space might be interested in doing the same thing relative to the earth.

The deepest doubt that this could happen springs, ironically, from earthly knowledge of the relative insignificance of this small planet in this relatively small planetary system. It hardly seems likely anyone would bother to orbit the earth, with so many larger, more challenging heavenly bodies to shoot at. There is a new dimension of humility emerging in space.

Meanwhile the mystery remains, or did when this was written. Earth has its first unidentified orbital object — its first UOO to go with all those Unidentified Flying Objects that never have been satisfactorily explained either.

A high court has upheld decision that a man guarding an oyster bed is not an independent contractor but an employer of an oyster company owning the bed and is entitled to unemployment benefits. This makes oysters, watchmen and oyster addicts feel better. Oysters are costly. On the half shell or as a cocktail, they make dinner an exploit in financial recklessness. Consequently oyster lovers like to feel that every oyster has been guarded and protected from bed to table. Who wants to worry over possibility the watchman of oyster beds is off form because of a way with the oyster corporation?

A big cigarette company is acquiring a razor blade corporation. Figures this can give it the edge over other cigarettes, perhaps.

I Tell You, Disarmament'd Ruin Our Economy!

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

In cities across the land there are some local union chiefs who race their eight cylinder chariots across town towards empty lots strewn with the melancholy looking rubble of recently demolished buildings. It's like staking out a gold claim.

Those who get their first get all the other jobs of common laboring, mason tending and hod carrying for their fellow members of their own locals.

Sometimes two rival union leaders arrive at the same time—and out of this modern bit of Ben Hur competition come broken heads and cracked budgets of contractors eager to put up their skyscrapers and get on with other projects.

To stop this sort of jurisdictional civil war some of the AFL-CIO high command are trying to whip up a peace formula in their sunny mid-winter meeting in Bal Harbour, Fla.

So you'll know what's at stake, here is the story of one such war: This conflict, involving the bread and butter of some 600 Irish mason helpers and construction costs in the millions, rages now across the jungle streets of New York.

SCENE OF BATTLE is an empty lot in the heart of the big city—a plot of ground hallowed by the fact that Toots Shor's eatery once stood there.

Progress is irreverent. It watched workmen tear down Toots' bar and surrounding buildings so the great Zeckendorf Hotel could rise.

On Aug. 3 two men were the first at the lot. They were members of Local 33 of the International Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers Union.

They were mason tenders. This meant they would move in supplies, put up shanties and erect fences around the lot so no one falls into the excavation. They were hired by the firm, the famed George A. Fuller Construction Co.

The union rule says that the first men on the lot of a new job are hired. The second man put on the payroll becomes the shop steward. He then calls his local union and says send up he boys, the project is ours.

So on August 3, the two men from Local 33 began to put up one of those signs you've seen a thousand times—it gives the name of the construction outfit, the size of the building, the height and whether it's an office structure, a hotel or an apartment house.

The boys of Local 33, represented by attorney Paul O'Dwyer, were happy. Good work on a big project isn't always easy to get even these days. But then in moved Hod Carriers Local 23.

They claimed jurisdiction. They said that the area really was theirs. Six years ago some of their men had shored up a building on the site. Of course, it was no longer standing. But, said Local 23's leaders our boys got to the lot first—six years ago.

THIS IS BUT ONE of the feuds the battling Irish have fought. There's another such battle now in the heart of the financial district at 64 Wall st. There two locals have ganged up on Local 33—for the same reason.

This can happen because the Hod Carriers locals can roam all over Manhattan and the Bronx—now areas of hundreds of billions of dollars worth of new building construction work.

There is no geographical jurisdiction. Unlike other construction unions, the Hod Carriers Union does not limit its locals to one area bounded by definite lines.

Pretty nearly every time the Local 33 boys get some place, the other locals—four of them—step in and demand the work.

Most of the time one of the four locals gets it. Behind them is the power of their Washington national headquarters. The decision actually comes from the Mason Tenders Joint Council of five unions. This makes it a four to one vote, in effect.

THE OTHER DAY counselor O'Dwyer again wrote to Joseph V. Moreschi, international president of the Hod Carriers.

O'Dwyer wanted a fair deal from the New York City Joint Council. He wanted limits put on the territory of each local. He wanted the minutes of a council session which had again pushed his people around. He got no answer.

O'Dwyer also went into court. He used the Landrum-Griffin Act. This is the first time it has been invoked in a jurisdictional dispute. O'Dwyer wants the government to stop the Mason Tenders council from taking jobs away from the members of his client local.

If O'Dwyer succeeds, the government will do what the national AFL-CIO leaders have been unable to do voluntarily—halt war by stronger unions on weaker ones.

Then I presume, the national labor leaders will cry out against government interference. But the leaders themselves didn't act when they could on their own. Isn't it always so?

Receptacle of Trivia

Congressional Record--Editorial Monstrosity

Over the tinkle of silverware and china and the garbled drone of table talk and whispered conferences, there is the unmistakable sound of tearing paper. Across the District of Columbia every morning this season 200 or more individuals linger over coffee cups, tearing up newspapers. Gobs of printed stuff are excised and laid aside.

Then, with pockets stuffed with these odds and ends, our sovereign representatives find their way to the Capitol to perform their solemn duties: To spend 80 billion dollars of our tax money, to defend us from our enemies abroad, to protect hundreds of billions of our savings from destruction, to aid the free world and to "secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity."

When the gavels sound in the Senate Chamber and the House, there is a clamor for recognition. Regardless of the missile gap, regardless of other gaps in the national fabric, there emerges from statesmen's pockets the produce of the breakfast table.

This will be delivered at time glides by and then published at considerable expense by the government Printing Office in that fearsome receptacle of trivia, "The Congressional Record."

NEWSPAPER EDITORS have come to shudder at the sight of this editorial monstrosity.

One day's proceedings and debates with appendix may run to as many as 250 or 300 three-column, tightly-packed pages — a sure threat to eyesight and good humor if read conscientiously.

A typical "Congressional Record" is that of Jan. 19. Let us disregard the House proceedings and the appendix and turn to the Senate's contribution for the day—78 pages in length.

Here we find editorials, columns and articles plucked that very morning from a newspaper every one of the senators probably received.

These items are reprinted in entirety. One appears not once but three times — occupying pages 631, 649 and 662 — inserted by Sens. Johnson, Gore and Clark respectively.

Supreme Court decisions which are tediously lengthy and are available to every senator in his office, consume several pages. And along comes Wayne Morse, senator from Oregon, a spring of minutiae that never dries up, a pleader of special interests who has taken up more time in his day than any other senator. While matters of the utmost moment hang fire, Sen. Morse inserts the following: Discussion of brucellosis in cows and its eradication; six letters or editorials having to do with the difficulties caused by the importation of lamb and mutton and two large, impressive tables of figures, reproduced twice, showing monthly U.S. lamb and mutton imports by country of origin, 1958-59; an editorial on agriculture's need of bargaining power and finally, an address that takes up three pages, entitled, "Faith and Science."

To date, both Houses have filled well over 1,000 pages. There has been one piece of legislation passed by the Senate at this writing.

LAST YEAR'S "RECORD" cost $1,600,000 to print. Legislators are entitled to give out a certain number of subscriptions. Sen. Neuberger of Oregon, another fountain of words, has said that there are many people who would like to have the "Record" free of charge. "Alas," he despaired, "few of those unrequited souls seem to want the 'Record' badly enough to pay $150 monthly for the privilege; there is only a handful of paid subscribers in the entire nation — about 1,500." In other words, three subscribers for every legislator.

But the most discouraging aspect of the "Record" is that that editor's nightmare is like a Hollywood set — an imposing facade with precious little substance behind it.

A cursory inspection shows that for a good many of our elected representatives the "Record" is a convenient front.

It further reveals what is substituted for the hard labor of constructive parliamentary debate, deliberation, and progress. Of course, to get the latter would require long hours of work away from the Senate and House floors. This cannot be done over the morning orange juice.

A Touch of Artistry

By TRUMAN TWILL

An old violinist and his wife were fussed over last week by New Yorkers.

The papers wrote special pieces about the old gentleman and his lady. City officials staged a formal ceremony with a scroll saying New York was proud to be the adopted city of so great a man.

It was Fritz Kreisler. The occasion was his 85th birthday. Like the Old World man of manners that he is, he took the whole thing with the dignity that millions always have expected him to show, murmuring in response to the kind words that he was not entitled to them, but if he had been the credit belonged to the guidance, advice, help and aid of his dear wife Harriet who was the secret of his "bygone career."

Bear in mind, this was being done for a man who never had done anything but play a violin with skill and write some music. He introduced much of the music on his concert tours as the work of obscure European composers, because he did not think his own name should appear that often on the program. That is the kind of story people like to tell about him. They love him.

World War I put him under a cloud here, because he had been born in Austria, an enemy country. But when it was over, he was allowed to come back and resume his career. He qualified for U.S. citizenship in 1943 and adopted New York City as his American home. He met his beloved Harriet in this country in 1901 and married her the same year.

But this is not intended to be a biographical sketch about Fritz Kreisler, violinist, composer and gentleman. It is an inquiry about something that is not easy to understand.

I heard the great Kreisler play only once. It was a memorable occasion, because his fame had been established. He was at the climax of his virtuosity. All this I was told; I do not know enough about music and musicians to distinguish the good from the medium, though I can spot the bad ones.

I remember only that Kreisler played his famous "Caprice Viennois," and I can whistle part of the theme to this day. If I were to list the few direct exposures I've had to the great men of my generation, the name of Kreisler would be on the list. Yet I never have fully grasped the reason for the fame and honor that artists like him are given by their contemporaries.

They have no power, no authority. They cannot chop off anyone's head or give anyone a title. Sometimes they do not know where their next meal is coming from, as has been true of some of our own jazz musicians who have been acclaimed in recent years.

It can be explained only by the fact that men do reserve a special kind of honor for their fellows who have proved by artistry that the human race is something better than a minor division of the Animal Kingdom. Here is the one place where a difference can be demonstrated.

Other animals can be as savage as man, though almost no other animal is, except when cornered. Other animals can be more beautiful. All of them are stronger, more agile, more graceful and better suited to their environment.

But none of them can decide when young to make a career of artistry, for the enjoyment of their fellow animals. Even the birds, when they sing, are not doing it with a motive in mind. There is no reason to believe that other birds enjoy bird songs, but man enjoys them so much they try to reproduce the sound with their relatively inferior sound-making equipment.

One more thing: The Kreislers of this earth are honored and remembered long after the politicians, magnates, tycoons and arm-twisters have passed into namelessness. Why is that?

I do not know. I'm asking.

Ohioan Held On New York Robbery Count

NEW YORK (AP)—Police have arrested a suave, well-dressed Ohio man who they said flew here regularly on weekends to rob penthouses of jewels and furs.

Thomas Pitten, 45, of Cleveland was arrested Friday as he walked out of an East 81st Street apartment house with a suitcase full of mink and a pocketful of jewels. Police said Pitten and a friend operated as a team, spending their weekends in New York, sometimes visiting fashionable night clubs and restaurants to size up prospective victims, and then returning to Cleveland to dispose of the loot.

The pair stole at least half a million dollars worth of loot in more than 75 robberies since last summer, police said.

Two detectives noticed Pitten and his friend idling in front of the apartment house and watched Pitten enter the building. The companion—identified only as "Iggy"—fled. But a short while later, Pitten stroled out into the detectives' arms.

Police said Pitten entered apartments by slipping back the bolt on door locks with celluloid.

He was charged with burglary and possession of burglar's tools.

corrupt labor power, a slump in American morals.

"The American way of life has proved to be pretty tough," he said. "It needs to be even tougher right now."

"I have lived a long life, and I have seen our nation rally, exert its strengths to surmount dangers as great as those which beset us now."

Hoover, the country's 31st president, offered this summary of perils:

"We have in the Communist nations implacable enemies, whose determination—despite their disguises of peaceful cooperation—is to destroy and dominate the free world."

"And they are succeeding at our very doorstep."

"We are not only plagued with their conspiracies, but with the infection of Karl Marx in both the thinking of our people and the actions of our own government."

"We are in a crisis of inflation which steadily saps the earnings and savings of our people."

"We are in a crisis in our foreign trade—in which competition and an unfavorable trade balance cause the flight of our capital from fear of the stability of the dollar."

"We are in a crisis of the domination of some labor unions by hoodlums; and the use of their gigantic funds to influence elections."

"We are in the midst of an increasing moral slump as witness the increase in major known crimes."

Ohio-born comedian received $500,000 a year. No exact figures have been made public.

Paar became infuriated when NBC deleted a portion of his Wednesday night show dealing with an anecdote concerning correspondence over the initials W.C.

The story told of an English lady who wrote to a prospective Swiss landlord asking if the room she reserved had a W. C. In Britain, that means water closet or toilet.

The Swiss recipient thought W. C. meant wayside chapel and answered accordingly. The resulting confusion was the nub of the joke.

Paar thought the story funny and "very innocent."

NBC disagreed, and cut 4 minutes and 52 seconds out of the tape and replaced it with a news summary.

Marshal

Volunteer firemen going to a barn blaze at the farm of Max and Ernest Johnson discovered a barn on fire at the farm of Mrs. Hazel Fudge. One truck stopped there to fire the blaze and a second went to the Johnson farm. Still another barn burned about the same time on the farm of Paul Bingham.

All the farms are in about a two-mile area.

Bingham estimated his damage at $15,000. In addition to farm machinery and feed, he lost a cow and his pet dog. His sister, Mrs. Eva Beale, who lives on another farm nearby, had a heart attack when she learned of the fire on her brother's farm. She died shortly afterward in a hospital.

The loss to the barn on the Fudge farm was estimated at $7,000, and that to the Johnson barn $6,000.

At about the same time, Charles Bond, a farmer living in Clinton County near the Greene County line, discovered a fire in some bales of hay stacked in his barn. He used wet feed sacks to control the blaze until firemen arrived.

There were several other minor fires reported in the county last night but authorities said they did not believe they were connected in any way with the farm fires.

State Highway patrolmen joined deputy sheriffs in the investigation, searching roads and highways in both Greene and adjoining Clinton County.

TEACHER, I KNOW!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Proverbs	8	9-11
Monday	Job	8	10-11
Tuesday	Ephesians	4	14-15
Wednesday	I Corinthians	3	9-11
Thursday	I Thessalonians	3	9-10
Friday	Hebrews	10	35-37
Saturday	Matthew	25	45-46

You can almost hear their voices, and see their eyes sparkle. They have confidence because they have studied their lessons. Questions do not worry them—they know!

Will they be as confident when it comes to the more serious questions of adult life? Those who grow up in the Church and give God His rightful place are building on a firm foundation. In His House they "increase in wisdom and stature and in favor with God and man." There is no substitute for the Christian precepts and ideals taught by your church.

But what about those who lack this training? Will life seem difficult to them because they lack the confidence which comes from a knowledge of God and His teachings?

Do your children have the advantage of this confidence?

Couple Wed Saturday In Wellsburg

Miss Nancy Jeanne Workman and Earl Leroy Riegle exchanged their marriage vows in a ceremony solemnized Feb. 6 in the Christian church in Wellsburg, W. Va.

The Rev. Carl Johnson Jr. performed the double ring service before the altar, which was graced with bouquets of gladioli, snapdragons and mums.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Workman of New Waterford. Mr. Riegle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Reigle of Carrollton.

Miss Workman chose a ballerina-length dress of white lace over taffeta and white accessories. She carried a white Bible topped with red rose buds.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Floor of East Palestine, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, attended the couple. The matron of honor wore a blue sheath with matching bolero jacket, complemented with black accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

The wedding party enjoyed a supper in Steubenville following the ceremony.

A graduate of Fairfield High School, Class of 1956, Mrs. Riegle is employed as a secretary by the Midway Motor Sales, Inc. at New Waterford. Her husband attended Carrollton High School, served in the Army and is self-employed.

Following a short wedding trip, the couple will reside in East Palestine.

How Contour Strips Work

Heavy meadow-covered strips alternating with corn and small grain strips bring the water flow to a slow speed.

Meadow strips remove soil particles which are water's cutting tools.

Water moving over a slope of contour strips moves safely without rill, or groove, damage.

Strip cropping is not a single practice, it is a combination of good farming practices. Strip cropping employs crop rotations, contour cultivating, proper tillage, stubble mulching, cover cropping.

Strip cropping system maintains soil productivity and often improves it, maintains the maximum amount of ground cover for the greatest portion of the year.

Farmers should make their requests early for the contour strips they may need for 1960. Requests may be sent to the Soil Conservation office, 517 E. Washington St., Lisbon, or by mail to P.O. Box 258, Lisbon.

Giving a helping hand to a helping hand pays off.

In the case of the 10th grade home economics class at Goshen School, it pays off in smiles on the faces of children in Salem City Hospital and Central Clinic.

The girls—32 of them — have been helping the Women's Auxiliary of Salem's Hospitals make puppet dolls, which are given to each child confined to either hospital.

So far, the girls have turned over 125 dolls to the Auxiliary and probably will make 75 more. The Auxiliary itself puts in many, many hours on the overall project as they currently give away between 1,500 and 1,600 dolls a year.

Mrs. Albert Hanna of the auxiliary says the faces on the puppets are exclusive in this area. She said they are provided by a firm which has promised not to distribute them within proximity to Salem.

The rest of the doll is sewed and improvised by the girls of Goshen High and the women of the auxiliary.

The face is stitched to a head made of fabric and the body, minus legs, is cut from fabric and stitched together. The head contains a cardboard cone for inserting a finger as the source of motion. The body and arms are hollow for the insertion of the hand and fingers.

Inspired Akron St. Vincent Quintet Upsets Salem 60-59

Locals Hold Lead Only Once In Fray

By DICK BRANTIGAM

Untouted Akron St. Vincent pulled off one of the biggest upsets in Ohio scholastic basketball this season by nipping highly rated Salem 60-59 before a screaming partisan crowd Friday night at St. Vincent Field House.

St. Vincent, which had won only two of 15 games prior to last night's fray, fell behind just once during the contest. That was early in the first quarter, Salem's only lead came when Dan Krichbaum jumped in a one-hander from the corner to make the score 5-3 as the contest was just 2:30 old.

Paced by the sensational outside shooting of 6-4 senior Dave Ahern, the Irish vaulted into a 19-7 lead by the end of the opening period.

AHERN CONTINUED to stun the state's third-ranked Quakers in the second quarter. Everything the big boy threw at the hoop found its mark. Ahern, the only senior on the St. Vincent squad, slipped in nine goals for 18 points without a miss in the first half.

Salem could do nothing right in the opening quarter. Numerous bad passes brought costly turnovers which the Quakers couldn't afford against a team as steamed up as St. Vincent.

Salem made only two goals in 11 attempts during the first period. The large local following couldn't find much to cheer about.

The Quakers were consistently outmaneuvered and frequently outmaneuvered by their taller opponents under the boards. St. Vincent players simply kept shooting until they made the basket. Salem was getting one shot and then falling back on defense.

St. Vincent got off 18 shots in the first quarter compared to only 11 for Salem.

THE QUAKERS fought back in the second quarter, outscored the Irish 21-19. Jim Lehwald and the always hustling Dan Krichbaum carried the scoring load in the period. Salem's number one scoring threat, Dave Hunter, was held to a single field goal in the first half. He picked up six other markers on foul shots, however.

Despite Salem's increased scoring tempo in the second quarter, the Quakers found themselves down by 16 points with 2:40 remaining in the half. With St. Vincent on top 31-15, Salem tallied eight straight points to narrow the margin to 31-23.

Ed Yates, whom Coach John Cabas inserted into the lineup for Jim Solmen, started the Salem spurt with a tap in following a missed shot. The sharpshooting Ahern interrupted the Salem drive with another of his long one-handers. St. Vincent was on top 38-28 at halftime.

SALEM OUTSCORED St. Vincent in every period except the first. The Quakers had a 21-19 edge in the second frame, 15-13 in the third and 16-9 in the fourth.

The Quakers played in spurts in the second half. Once in the third quarter and three times in the final period Salem closed the gap to two points only to see its foe pull away again.

In the third period Salem worked the score to 38-40 on successive goals by Lehwald, Krichbaum and Solmen. Ahern took control again and led a drive which put St. Vincent on top 51-43 by the end of the period.

With 4:05 left in the game, Solmen scored from under the hoop to pull Salem to within two points again, 53-55. The two teams exchanged goals and Salem was down 55-57 with 3:15 remaining.

ST. VINCENT started to stall and drew two consecutive fouls when Salem came out to get the ball. With 1:40 remaining, Lehwald made a clean steal of the ball and drove in for a bucket which made the score 57-59 in favor of St. Vincent.

Mike Cyrill widened the margin to 60-57 with a successful foul try as the clock showed just 1:00 remaining. Salem lost the ball but got it back again with :38 left to play. Solmen missed a shot for the Quakers and St. Vincent grabbed the rebound.

Salem got the ball out of bounds with :05 showing on the clock. St. Vincent gave Hunter a clear path to the basket to avoid fouling him. The Quaker co-captain dropped the ball through the hoop as the buzzer sounded, but the Quakers were still one point shy.

THIS WAS ONLY the second defeat in 16 games for Salem. Both of the losses have been by one point. Youngstown East hand ed the Quakers their other setback 42-41.

Dave Hunter took down scoring honors for Salem with 18 points. Krichbaum followed closely with 17. Ahern slowed down a bit in the second half but wound up with 12 goals and three fouls for 27 points. Bob Meeker, a husky 6-1 sophomore, chipped in with 11 points.

Salem played the game without the services of its leading rebounder, Don Davidson, who had the flu for the past two days. Davidson took the floor when the starting lineup was introduced last night but Coach Cabas substituted

Clippers' Rally Falls Short 48-47

The Columbiana Clippers put on a fine last period performance Friday night but fell short of what was needed as they were nipped for the ninth time in 16 outings by the Louisville Leopards 48-47 on the Clipper Court.

The story of the Clipper loss was actually told in the first half when the Leopards piled up a nine-point advantage. The score at the half was 32-23.

Leading the Louisville quintet were Larry Buckle and Darrell Sommers with 12 points apiece, both getting 10 from the field and two at the foul line.

High point man for the night was the Clippers Gary Perkins who hit on five shots from the field and three from the foul stripe for a total of 13.

Equaling the Leopards' big guns in the scoring column was Columbiana's Rich Harold with 12 points. The win was the Leopards' ninth in 16 outings.

The reserve game went to Louisville also, 54-40.

Columbiana will play next Tuesday night at Sebring.

Whitt Out In Front In Phoenix Open

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Don Whitt, who generally is ranked among the also-rans on the winter tour, was out in front by two strokes today as the $22,500 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament moved into the third round.

Whitt, 29-year-old pro from Borrego Springs, Calif., came out of the pack Friday with a brilliant 7-under-par 64 — just one stroke shy of the 18-hole tournament record. Coupled with an opening day 70, Whitt had a 36-hole total of 134-8 under par.

Grouped at 136 were Jack Fleck, Los Angeles; Lionel Hebert, Lafayette, La.; and Doug Ford, Crystal River, Fla.

Fleck and Hebert put a pair of 68s back to back while Ford, who shared the first-round lead with Jay Hebert of Sanford, Fla., skidded to a 70.

Back at 138 were Jerry Barber, Los Angeles; Bob Rosburg, Kansas City; Ken Venturi, San Francisco; and Howie Johnson, Meadowlark, Calif.

Whitt, who says he usually plays so-so good during the winter tour, has finished no better than 14th this year. He won two tournaments last year — both during the summer tour.

The contest was closely fought in the initial period, with Wellsville ahead 16-12 at its conclusion.

Coach Jack McDewitt's Tigers surged in the second stanza to hold a 38-26 bulge at the intermission.

In the third period, Wellsville amassed 14 points while limiting Chester to seven to lead 52-33 going into the final period.

Robert Kiggins was high for the winners with 22 points. Also scoring in the double figures for Wellsville were Franklin Jackson with 16 and Ray Franklin with 11. Bob Shaffer paced the losers with 22.

The victory gives the Tigers an 11-3 record over the season. Their next game will be Tuesday when they play host to Goshen Union.

Salem Reserves Turn Back St. Vincent Jayvees 62-47

Salem's reserves won their 10th straight game and 14th in 15th starts this season by turning back host Akron St. Vincent 62-47 Friday night.

Pint-sized guard Gary Jeffries dropped in 14 points, all of them in the first half, to pace the Salem scorers. Bob Eskay, the team's top point getter for the season, was close behind with 13 markers.

From the time Eskay dropped in a foul shot in the first 10 seconds of play until the final buzzer sounded, Salem was on top. The St. Vincent Jayvees never seriously threatened the powerful Quaker combine.

The Quakers of Coach Carl Zellers held quarter leads of 16-6, 36-19 and 50-32. Their biggest lead in the game was 21 points. It came early in the final quarter when the score was 54-33.

Ten men broke into the scoring column for Salem. Ron Janovec, Tod Couchie and Duane McClaskey dominated the boards for the Quakers.

Fred Harshman, the second leading scorer for the Salem reserves this season, did not play in last night's game. The junior guard was held out by Coach Zellers because he was running ahead of the number of quarters permitted in one season. Harshman has seen frequent action with the varsity as well as the reserves.

Salem Reserves — 62
Janovec 2-1-3; Panzotti 1-0-2; Thorne 0-0-0; Couchie 3-6-6; J. Hiner 1-1-3; McClaskey 3-2-8; Borrelli 3-0-4; Herron 0-0-0; Jeffries 5-4-14; Watson 1-1-3; Ewing 1-0-2; Eskay 4-5-13.

Ohio U. Jolts KSU, Ashland, Cincy Win

By The Associated Press

Ohio University's Bobcats put their claws a little deeper into the Mid-American Conference basketball crown Friday night by dumping Kent State 84-68. This gives OU first place with an 8-1 MAC tally.

Before the game the Bobcats and Toledo were locked for top honors in the conference at 7-1. Toledo has a chance to recoup Saturday as it meets Marshall.

Bunk Adams and Bill Whaley each scored 18 points as the Bobcats took their 10th straight win.

Top ranked Cincinnati squeezed by St. Louis 60-57, as Bearcat Oscar Robertson hit for 31 points. The game gives the Bearcats an 8-1 Missouri Valley conference record for at least a tie in the race. They're 19-1 overall.

Sparked by Bruce Ringler's 24 points, Bethany (W. Va.) ruined John Carroll's perfect Presidents Athletic Conference record with a 93-62 triumph.

Carroll remains in the PAC lead but at 6-1. Bethany still holds fourth spot at 5-3.

In the only Ohio Conference tussle, Otterbein dominated the boards and uncorked a last minute scoring spree to down Hiram 81-65. The Otters now have a 4-11 OC record and a 4-13 overall. Hiram is 19 and 69, respectively.

In other games, Central State paced by Turner Russell with 31 points, racked up its highest game point total for the season as it smashed Lincoln (Mo.) 96-75. The Marauders are 11-5 for the season.

Ashland rolled over Lawrence Tech (Mich.) 102-93 in foreign territory and Oberlin nipped Rochester (N. Y.) 69-60.

Thomas Again Fails to Snap Jump Record

NEW YORK (AP)—John Thomas takes another potshot at his own world indoor high jump record in the New York Athletic Club Games tonight in Madison Square Garden, but if he flunks Hayes Jones will be waiting in the wings to steal the show.

The 18-year-old Thomas soared to his ninth 7-footer in the Inquiry meet Friday night in Philadelphia, but again he failed to break his record of 7-1 1/2.

Now, although, he set the record only two weeks ago, it's getting to be a crusade with him to break it.

Last week in Boston he equalled it, and barely missed doing better.

In Philadelphia, they set the crossbar at 7-2, and he kicked it off twice. But the third time, he came mighty close.

Jones, for his part, is going to shoot for the 60-yard high hurdles and 60-yard dash tonight. In the Inquiry meet, he became the first man in history to win both the sprint and hurdles in a major indoor meet—and the likes of Harrison Dillard had failed in the past.

He captured the 50-yard hurdles in six seconds, equalling the world indoor record for the seldom-run distance and came back just seven minutes later and won the 50-yard dash in 5.4.

Bears Overpowered 84-67 Leetonia Tripped By East Palestine

The Leetonia Bears were downed Friday night by an invading East Palestine cage squad in Tri-County League activity 84-67.

Jim Hartshorn, 6-foot junior, led the Bulldogs with 26 points. Willis Woods netted 21 while Chuck Robinson and Chuck Bruno tallied 16 and 14, respectively.

Lee Radler, one of the scorers in the league, paced the Bears with 27 markers. Bob Gullett had 17 for Leetonia.

The Bulldogs held a 21-11 lead going into the second stanza, but by halftime, they padded this margin to 41-28.

The Bears made a futile attempt in the third quarter to re-enter the contest, but they were overpowered by the invaders, who thundered on to a 60-54 advantage.

East Palestine now holds a 9-7 record for the season, while in loop play, the Bulldogs are 7-5.

The Bulldogs will meet the invading Lisbon Blue Devils Tuesday night.

Leetonia is now 4-12 for the season. In league play the Bears hold a 1-11 record.

Leetonia will travel to Poland Tuesday night for its next contest.

In the preliminary tilt last night, the East Palestine Reserves edged Leetonia, 42-36.

United Local Jolts Carrollton 67-51

Blanchard, Summer Pace Vectors' Attack

Three United Local players entered the double figures in scoring Friday night as the Golden Eagles dumped Carrollton 67-51 at United.

Turning in the night's top performance scoringwise for the Eagles was Lester Blanchard who was really hot from the foul stripe, getting 11 to add to his six fielders for a total of 23.

Jim Summer hit on eight fielders to tie John Pothorski of Carrollton in that department. However, Pothorski also managed to ring the hoop for eight foul shots to take scoring honors for the night with a rousing 24 points.

Summer's 19 was second high for the Eagles and third high in the game.

The outcome of the contest was told in the percentages, the Eagles compiling a neat 47 percent against the hapless Carrollton quintet's 27.

Not only did Blanchard spark in the scoring department, but he also did what Coach Robert Penrod termed, "a fine job rebounding and ball handling."

Coach Penrod also lauded the efforts of substitute Jim Ernst who filled in for regular John Hanna. Ernst dropped in three fielders and three fouls for a total of nine points.

Other high scorers in the contest were Gary Shaddock of Carrollton who rang up six fielders and three fouls for a total of 15, and Larry Marks of the Eagles who hit on four from the field and two from the foul stripe for 10 total points.

United will be at home Tuesday night for Goshen Union and will be gunning for victory number 11 in 17 outings.

Cunningham connected on 17 goals and five fouls to snap the 35-point record set by Phil Hayes in 1956.

The contest was closely fought at the end of the first quarter 15-14, but Toronto surged to go out in front 35-30 by the intermission.

At the three-quarter point, the count was 48-47 in favor of the eventual winners.

Don Karavas was high scorer for Toronto with 28.

Minerva Romps To 5th Victory

Sebring Trojans Are 58-44 Victims

Minerva's Lions romped to their 15th victory of the season Friday night as they thumped the Sebring Trojans 58-44 before a full house in the Sebring gym.

Although the final score indicates a rout, the game was a nip and tuck affair up to the final period.

At the three-quarter mark, the Lions were leading by a mere six points. It was midway in the final period that the Lions utilized a full court press and started pulling away.

The final picture was due primarily to the scoring of the Lions' Ron Hardgrove who started hitting from the outside in the final period, ending up with 17 points.

Two of his teammates, Walt Loudon and Chris Ferris, teamed up with Hardgrove in the scoring column, getting 12 and 11, respectively.

Splitting scoring honors for the losing Trojans were Tom Baxter and Fred Brunner who combined for a total of 28. Baxter hit the hoop from the field for all 14 of his markers while Brunner had four at the foul line.

Minerva also took the Reserve contest, squeaking by the Sebring juniors, 38-35.

Sebring's next outing will be Tuesday against the Columbiana Clippers on Sebring's home court.

The Lions will also be playing at home Tuesday against Louisville's Leopards.

Questions and Answers

Q—What is unique about the feeding process of young pigeons?
A—After the young hatch, they are fed on "pigeon milk"—a unique substance secreted by the lining of the parent's crop—and then pumped into the mouths of the young. This is quite unlike any feeding process found elsewhere among birds.

Newspapers Slip In Public Relations, Editor Declares

BALTIMORE (AP) — Newspapers must develop better public relations if they are to encourage confidence of the readers, an Ohio newspaper editor says.

Clayton G. Horn, executive editor of the Brush-Moore Newspapers of Canton, Ohio, said most newsmen are dedicated and con-of the Maryland Press Assn. and the Chesapeake Assn. of The Associated Press.

Horn told his audience of editors and publishers "if we can impress our readers with the fact that we don't know everything there is to be known, that we are subject to the human frailties, just as they, but that we are striving to do an honest, fair, objective job, we will have gone a long way toward the goal of winning people's understanding."

"It is simply a matter of education, and we must never lose sight of the fact that we are dealing with a class of slow learners."

Violations of freedom of the press, Horn said will continue as long as newspapers ignore their responsibilities. One reason newspapers appear to violate confidence of the public, he added, is that they use too many poorly trained reporters.

The speaker listed eight ways he said newspapers can improve relations with the reading public:

1. Be more polite on the telephone;
2. Be courteous to people visiting the plant;
3. Conduct tours of the plant and distribute booklets telling what the newspaper and its role are;
4. Sponsor public service programs in which readers can participate. For example, spelling bees, health forums, Christmas parades, scholarships;
5. Do more to cultivate classroom interest in the paper's activities;
6. Accent local news that affects people where they live;
7. Explain (editorially) to the public the newspaper's policy of printing or not printing a story or portions of it; and
8. Express the editorial policy vigorously — "readers enjoy a strong, effective newspaper voice."

Brush-Moore Newspapers publish in seven Ohio cities and one each in Maryland and Pennsylvania.
